THE 2017/18 BUDGET-IN-BRIEF

Ministry of Finance and Economic Development

February 2017
Background

- The 2017/2018 Budget Proposal forms the first instalment of the six budgetary outlays for the implementation of NDP 11 approved on 1st December 2016.
- NDP 11 identified several national priorities that have to be pursued in the medium term through allocation of the budget to address the three development challenges of unemployment, poverty and income inequality.
- The 2017/2018 Budget Proposal recognises these development challenges as key to promoting inclusive growth in the economy.
- Like its predecessor, the 2017/2018 budget proposal was prepared under an environment of:
  - economic uncertainty,
  - persistent subdued global growth, and
  - weak global demand for commodities, and weak commodity prices.
- To this end, the 2017/2018 budget proposal underscores the need to exercise prudent financial management during NDP 11.

Economic Review & Outlook

- The outcome of the global, regional, and domestic economic performance forms the basis for estimating the available financial resources, of which, Government is able to use in undertaking planned programmes and projects.

Global Economy

IMF World Economic Outlook (January 2017)

- Global growth is estimated at 3.1% in 2016 and 3.4% in 2017;
- Economic activity anticipated to improve in advanced economies and Sub-Saharan Africa;
  - Growth estimated at 1.6% and 1.9% in 2016 and 2017, respectively for advanced economies.
  - For Sub-Saharan Africa, growth is forecast at 1.6% and 2.8% in 2016 and 2017, respectively.
- Emerging market economies growth is estimated at 4.1% and 4.5% in 2016 and 2017, respectively.
Domestic Economy

GDP

- Growth in the domestic economy is expected to improve from a decline of 1.7% in 2015 to reach 2.9% in 2016 (Fig. 1), which is slightly lower than the SADC regional projected growth of 3.1% during the same year.
- Domestic growth in 2016 will be underpinned by an anticipated slight improvement in the mining and water & electricity sectors.
- The performance of the domestic economy is however subject to downside risks associated with the expected performance of the global economy.

Inflation and Monetary Policy

- Inflation was 3.0 percent in December 2016, a slight decline from 3.1 percent the same month during the previous year.
- Domestic inflation has remained within the Bank of Botswana objective range of 3-6 percent during 2016 (Figure 2).
- The low inflation reflects price stability and therefore macroeconomic stability, which are important for international competitiveness of domestic industries, economic growth and job creation.
- Domestic inflation outlook is anticipated to remain positive, owing to continued low domestic demand pressures and stability in global oil prices.
• An accommodative monetary policy stance was maintained, with the Bank Rate reduced from 6.0 percent in July 2015 to 5.5 percent in August 2016 and remained at that level for now.

Foreign Exchange Reserves
- As at the end of December 2016, foreign exchange reserves stood at P76.8 billion, compared to P84.9 billion in December 2015 (Figure 3).
  - Reserves represent 17 months of import cover of goods and services.
  - Of the total reserves, the Government Investment Account (GIA) was P33.3 billion in November, 2016, a decline from P35.5 billion in December 2015.
The Pula exchange rate mechanism is managed through a rate of crawl based on the inflation differential between Botswana and its trading partners.

Regular adjustments of the Pula basket weights are also reviewed in line with Botswana’s trade patterns.

To this end, as from the 1st January 2017, the Pula basket weights were revised from 50% rand and 50% SDR to 45% rand and 55% SDR.

The rate of crawl has also been changed from an upward crawl of 0.38 percent per annum in 2016 to 0.26 percent for 2017.

In the ten months to October 2016, the Pula depreciated against the South African rand by 6.1 percent, while appreciating by 7.1 percent against the SDR (Figure 4).

The Real Effective Exchange Rate (REER) on the other hand depreciated by 0.6 percent in the ten months to October 2016, compared to an appreciation of 1.4% registered for the same period in the previous year (Figure 4).

The depreciation of the REER reflects the low domestic inflation environment relative to inflation in the country’s trading partners.

Expenditure, Revenue and Overall Balance Trends

Overall Cash Flow Balance

Source: MFED, January 2017

Government Net Financial Position

- 2017/18 net financial position projected to decline (-1.2% of GDP), signalling unsustainable debt path. (Figure 10). There is therefore need to restore it to positive levels.
Fiscal Legislation

- Considering the volatility of the major sources of revenue, Government will continue to execute prudent financial management. In addition, the following are under consideration;
  - Amendment of Income Tax Act and Value Added Tax Act to come up with a Tax Administration Act.
  - Inclusion of sale of property by a Deputy Sheriff as a taxable supply in Value Added Tax Act.
  - Amendment of Income Tax to deduct tax on Director’s fees where such a Director is working as a Director for several companies.
  - Impose a minimum penalty for non-filers in order to encourage compliance and minimize the tax gap.
Conclusion

- Continued low growth in government revenues, and increased expenditure pressure, have put the country’s fiscal position under serious stress.
- 2017/2018 budget proposals point to a budget deficit, which is a third consecutive deficit in the last three years.
- Government is however committed to fiscal sustainability in the medium term. Emphasis is put on the need to:
  - Restore budget balances in the medium to long term.
  - Broaden the country’s domestic revenue base and reduce reliance on diamond revenue.
  - Implement policies, strategies and programmes aimed at developing diversified sources of economic growth, and contain expenditure.
- Government to tighten expenditure controls, continue pursuing complementary efforts to strengthen public management controls and ensure efficiency and effectiveness on public spending.
